

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

Among the early settlers of Springfield, Mass., we find Ebenezer Miller and his wife Hannah—living there in September, 1660.

Lieut. Thomas Miller lived there and was killed by the Indians at the burning of Springfield in 1675. He was a man of prominence in the community and at the time of the massacre held the office of Town Constable; many interesting stories are told of him and his wife concerning the part they took during the witchcraft craze. He evidently did not appreciate the honor of the office to which he was elected at one time—that of Fence Viewer—as he was fined two shilling for not properly fulfilling the duties of this office.

Obadiah Miller took the oath of allegiance at Springfield April 27, 1678.

John Miller was an Ensign in the local military company, living at Springfield, 1703-1735.

In 1736-38, Mrs. John Miller and John Miller, Jr., were in full communion with the Church at Springfield.

This genealogy begins with Captain Joseph Miller, born 1698, probably a grandson of Lieut. Thomas Miller, above mentioned.

The work was begun some years ago, during the life time of the late George Byron Miller, of New York City. It is completed in so far as it fulfills his intention, in that it lays the foundation correctly for a large number of the descendants of Captain Joseph Miller, born in 1698, of West Springfield, Mass.

CAPTAIN JOSEPH MILLER

1. CAPTAIN JOSEPH MILLER was born in 1698, he died at West Springfield, Mass., April 8, 1760, aged 62 years. He married Mary Wilder; she died Nov. 24, 1759, aged 64 years. By occupation he was a farmer. For many years he was in command of a company of soldiers and saw much service in the Indian wars.

One of their children was

2. JOSEPH, b. May, 1724.

2. JOSEPH MILLER, m. Catharine Fesey, born Dec., 1727, died April, 1811. He died April 8, 1803, aged 79 years. He was captain of a military company in the Indian wars, and in the war of the Revolution was Captain of the 11th Company of the First Hampshire County Regiment, Mass. Militia.

He was among the first settlers of Ludlow, Mass., moving there with his family from West Springfield, Mass., in 1751.

At this time the journey of 14 miles up the Chicopee River, through a dense forest was extremely hazardous; it is recorded that they were mourned as dead by their friends at their former home in West Springfield; a tradition of the family is that a funeral sermon was preached over their departure.

At the first Town Meeting held in Ludlow, March 16, 1774, Joseph Miller was elected Selectman and Treasurer, and at an adjourned meeting he was appointed a Delegate to the Provincial Congress at Salem, Mass. In the same capacity he again went to Salem, then to Cambridge, Mass., and to another session of the Congress at Watertown, Mass., the next May. He was paid 11 pounds, 13 shillings, 2 pence for expenses, and 2 shillings a day, for 32 days attendance.

He was the first Representative from the town of Ludlow to the Massachusetts State Legislature in 1785.

In 1786, a grandchild of Capt. Joseph Miller was run over by a cart, this injury terminating fatally; the body was the first to be laid in the old burial ground of the Congregational Church at Ludlow. In the following year his barn was burned and in it a little two year old granddaughter. A few months afterward another grandchild, son of Isaac Brewer, was taken away in early manhood, followed soon by his heart-broken father.

A relic of early days exhibited at the Philadelphia Centennial, 1876, was a shoe worn by Capt. Joseph Miller's grandchild.

3. AARON J. MILLER, married in 1780, Esther Burr, born April 9, 1763, died Dec. 4, 1826. He died Nov. 4, 1838. He was a distinguished physician and surgeon and was a member of the Massachusetts State Legislature.

He served as Surgeon in the Army during the War of the Revolution. The following record is of interest:

“Aaron J. Miller, Surgeon, 83 years of age, of Hampden County, Mass., was allowed a pension of $200 per year, Sept. 13, 1833, and a payment of $600 was made to him on this date, as pension for previous years.”

The following from the Palmer, Mass., “Journal,” illustrates the man: “He was the first physician in Ludlow, Mass., and was a very tidy sort of a man, distinguished for wearing the best broadcloth he could find and always eating molasses instead of butter on his bread; drinking clear tea and a very little old New England rum. He was a rapid talker, made his fever powders of camphor gum and loaf sugar and was never known to hurt his patients with his medicines. He usually walked when visiting his patients, always accompanied by his little dog. He was intolerant of others opinions, and emphasized his own with frequent thrusts of his cane. He wrote the following epitaph on his little dog:

BUTE, WHO WAS KILLED BY THE WOLVES.

"Hard was the fate of little 'Bute'

With hungry wolves he did dispute,

Amid the strife of battles din

Received a grip beneath the chin.

Adieu, my brother of the dust,

Those savage whelps are doubly cursed,

With horrid screech and doleful yell,

I hear them howling now in hell."***

George Byron Miller was born in Hadley, Mass., in which town he passed his youthful days. In early manhood he went to Jefferson, Ohio, remained there in mercantile business a few years, then went to New York City. He was a commercial traveler for fifty years, his business taking him to all parts of the United States and Europe. His last trip to England was made a few years before his death.

George Byron Miller was a man of a singularly loveable personality. The compiler of this work has lived long, traveled widely—met prince and pauper and all grades of humanity that range between—has yet to know another man so full of loving kindness or more genial in his friendship than was George Byron Miller. He died Nov. 3, 1904.
